KEEPING YOUR TEAM PRODUCTIVE & ENGAGED

The Upstate Wanderer (UW) is a GPS-based scavenger hunt that combines the power of play with strategy, communication, and personal ahas.

Teams can look forward to brainteasers, riddles, photos, videos, and activities that will nudge them out of their comfort zones. On our journey, teams will visit many iconic hotspots and hidden gems frequented by locals.

Since the UW is not a sequential hunt, teams can choose where they go, when they go, how to get there, and even when to take breaks or enjoy some of the local flair. They will strategize how to get the most points by using the strengths of every group member while experiencing what makes the upstate unique.

Don't worry, if it rains, we've got you covered.

I have no hesitation when saying it was the definitive highlight of our global sales summit. Since our Scavenger Hunt, the lines of communication and sense of camaraderie have vastly improved. This even goes for folks who work half a world away – conference calls with our peers are a bit more jovial now that we've had the chance to get to know one another in such a fun and dynamic way.
